

Application Statement to be re-designated as a Member of the International Safe Community Network

Wangjing Community, Chaoyang District, Beijing, China

March 16, 2012

WHO Collaborating Centre on Community Safety Promotion (CCCSP):

Wangjing Community, with a population of 224 thousand, is located in northeast Chaoyang District, Beijing, covering 10.36 square kilometers between the airport expressway, Jingcheng expressway, the Fourth Ring Road and the Fifth Ring Road.

In accordance with the guidelines set by WHO CCCSP, Wangjing Community set up safe community program in October 2004. In November 2006, Wangjing Community submitted the application to join in the International Safe Community Network (ISCN). And in October 2007, Wangjing Community had been designated as the 120th membership of International Safe Community Network. In the same year, Wangjing Community was designated as the National Safety Community, and joined in Asian Safe Community Network.

In these years, in accordance with the guidelines, Wangjing Community upholding the concept of continuous improvement, has integrated regional resources, attracted volunteers to participate and carried out a series of promotion programs including specialty training, home safety, fire safety, safety of the elderly, children safety, environmental safety, construction safety promotion programs, ect. The Wangjing Community now takes a new look with community injuries decreasing and residents participation more extensive year by year. Wangjing Community will continue to improve the safe community programs and actively participate in domestic and international exchanges, make efforts to strengthen community safety and help community residents enjoy a safe, healthy and desirable life.

It has been nearly five years since Wangjing Community has become a member of the International Safe Community Network (ISCN). In accordance with the guidelines of ISC, we now submit our application for re-designated. We promise to continue our effort in preventing and reducing accidents and injuries in Wangjing Community. We will choose a Certification Center to implement the re-designation process under the unified arrangement of the China Occupational Safety and Health Association.

Sincerely Yours!

Mr. Song Jun
